The good news is that about half of all the aluminum used in the United States is being recycled these days. A lot of energy is saved in the recycling process – since it avoids the need to make new aluminum from raw ore. National Recreation Systems has created sustainable designs that use the highest aluminum content commercially available.

ELEVATED Bleachers

“Elevated Bleachers” is a term used to describe a type of bleacher where feet rest at the height of the elevated front walkway on the first row seats. Several elevation heights are available. These elevations require entry stairs and front guardrail. An accessible ramp may also be required with ADA seating.

- Standard Model (1) single 2"x10" mill finish foot plank
- Preferred Model (2) double 2"x10" mill finish foot planks
